What we do:

DISMAS HOUSE

This flagship home located in the Main South neighborhood of Worcester has provided a caring home environment for homeless and former offenders in need for over a quarter of a century.

THE DISMAS FAMILY FARM

The Farm is a one-of-a-kind residential home set on the rolling 35 acres of a historic farm in Oakham Ma. Utilizing organic farming methods, the community at the farm operate a CSA, tend to animals, run a farmers market, and rebuild their lives in a holistic and healthy environment far from the urban core.

THE FATHER JOHN BROOKS HOUSE

Named for the legendary former president of the College of the Holy Cross, Brooks House provides secure apartment living for Dismas grads and their families enriched by staff support and accountability.

BASIC ADVOCACY FOR REENTRY (BAR) NONE PROGRAM

Led by a skilled attorney and advocate, the BAR None team of pro bono lawyers, retired judges, volunteers, and Holy Cross students help hundreds of former offenders overcome a tangle of civil legal barriers while also connecting them with housing, healthcare, and opportunity in greater Worcester.

By the Numbers

- Dismas House, the Dismas Family Farm and the Father John Brooks House are home each day to 30 homeless and former prisoners trying to rebuild their lives.
- Over 300 volunteers, comprising 50 different families and church and student groups, prepare and share dinner at Dismas programs each year.
- Dismas Family Farm residents grow over 20,000 pounds of fresh vegetables each year.
- The Dismas Family Farm raises 30 free-range turkeys each year at Thanksgiving.
- The farm has 1 llama, named Nina.

GREEN INITIATIVES

Dismas is leading the way through solar, pellet-fired furnaces, insulation, and high efficiency heat to a reduced carbon future for low-income housing providers. Working with community partners, Dismas is assisting other agencies in cultivating energy.

For over a quarter century, Dismas House of Massachusetts has provided a sense of community and belonging to former offenders and homeless people in central Massachusetts!
